the NUROFEN diaries

saturday 27th march, 6pm

i emerge from my bedroom for pretty much the first time that day & the world feels uncomfortably real, the air too clear & the smell of chinese food too potent. i down 2 nurofen & a lot of spring rolls before rushing back upstairs for my 2nd snow of the day monday 29th march, 4.30pm the sun is shining & i literally have to get outside & soak it up before the blandness of march makes its comeback. i wheel my bike out from the garden & swallow 2 tablets before making my way out into the wind, the village houses blurring past me at the same time as writing ideas blur through my mind.

tuesday 30th march, 11.45pm my fringe flops into my eyes, refusing to stay put after i tell back asleep. my eyelids are weighing me down & while the sun shined my mind stays clouded over. i take 2 pills & lug my laptop into the garden to edit my review, pretending it's july while i still can.

wednesday 31st march, 6pm

it is march. i was outside for literally 3 hours. & yet somehow, bc i am a parody of myself, i've given myself sunburn & maybe some very mild heat stroke. my cheeks are the shade of pink a 4-year-old would name as her favourite. once again, i dig around the kitchen for the pack of nurofen...
